LU College of Education and Human Development students represent 47 of 50 US States (indicated in LU Cardinal red), the Virgin Islands, US Army-Africa and US Army-Pacific. Online educator preparation allows students who live in an area of Texas, the US, or the world not served by a college or university to access a quality education delivered via internet. LU is a recognized leader providing graduate studies in school and district administration, counseling and post-graduate studies in educational leadership.

LU educators are well prepared to pass the rigorous standardized certification exams required by the Texas Education Agency. The chart below reports the pass rates for AY 2013-14 program completers. LU program completers exceed the 80% pass-rate standard recognized by Texas, Federal Title II and most professional organizations.
